UPCOMING EVENTS

February 16 - Copyright Traps: How to Identify and Stay Clear

Copyright law can present issues for companies who may innocently use pictures, text, music, or source code from the Internet without realizing that any of these things may be subject to Federal copyright protection. Other hidden issues arising from copyright concerns may stem from the hiring of independent contractors to write code or produce artwork, logos, music or text - and using certain favored phrases (such as "work for hire") which may present employment law issues. This presentation will provide an overview of copyright law, and will identify a few of the traps for the unwary.

February 23 - Trademark Litigation 101: Fighting Disputes over a Company's Brand Name

Mark Punzalan, Esq. will discuss the basics of trademark disputes and litigation. The discussion will begin with an introductory summary of federal trademark laws and the United States Patent and Trademark Office's trademark registration process, then detail the many issues regarding trademark infringement, including the "likelihood of confusion" analysis between two trademarks, defenses to trademark infringement, and available damages for trademark infringement.

March 1 - Asylum for Families and Unaccompanied Children Training

Thousands of families and unaccompanied children are fleeing violence in Mexico, Central America and South America. Fearing for their safety, they have sought refuge in the United States even as the current Administration has sought to curb protections for refugees. Many have asked for asylum at the border. Many have been released from immigration custody and placed in removal proceedings in immigration courts in San Francisco and other cities.

This hour and a half training will cover the basics of asylum law and removal defense. We provide training materials and share essential resources for any pro bono attorney taking on these cases.
